

Kyle joined Bousfields in May 2013 as an urban designer. Prior to joining the firm, Kyle worked for a private Planning and Engineering firm in Halifax, Nova Scotia as well as for the Town of Truro planning department. He has experience in masterplanning, design development and construction review of architectural and urban design projects.

His responsibilities at Bousfields include assisting in the preparation of planning and urban design rationales related to proposed developments; the assessment of built form options; built form impact analysis, including shadow and view analysis; and assisting in the preparation of urban design guidelines and evidence for Ontario Municipal Board hearings.

Kyle is currently a Candidate Member of the Ontario Professional Planning Institute (OPPI) and the Canadian Institute of Planning working towards full membership.
